

Estimated year of the original composition of the song is 2005

Pedestal

Falling off your pedestal
You have become radical – in love
Nothing, now, is terrible
You feel again the natural – your love your love

Beyond Dark and Light
All unconscious fight
Past beyond all time
There is just pure Sight

Beyond all your lies
Beyond lullabies
Beyond your so-called ‘I’
There’s only pure Sight

You see you’re just not chemical
Your body’s not a medical thing but love, it’s love
Finally you’re sensible
You see life’s not comprehensible, it’s love, just love

From now on it may be hurting
Life stopped being a burden
Nothing to uphold
Resting in being uncertain

Dwelling in the Heart of Truth
Past beyond every ‘have to’
Finally able to really do
What you’ve got to do

Falling off your pedestal
You see the Heart is radical – that’s love
Nothing, now, is terrible
You’re resting in the natural, in love, in love

Beyond Dark and Light
All unconscious fight
Past beyond all time

There is just pure Sight

Beyond all your lies
Beyond lullabies
Beyond your cold 'I'
There's a humble Sight

Love has made you flexible
Divinely accessible, just love
Now you're wholly credible
As a conscious animal in love

From now on it may be hurting
Life stopped being a burden
Nothing to uphold
Feeling good in being uncertain

Resting in the Heart of Truth
Past beyond every 'have to'
Finally able to really do
What you've got to do

Falling off your pedestal
Falling falling falling falling...