

You who made it in heaven

Think you're great – Truth will wait
You who made it in heaven – oh what about the earth
Your words are capturing and your body your body is dead
You don't know 'bout Pain, it's always the same, you're just not here
You sold your soul for a cool price
Maybe tomorrow you'll buy paradise

Ooh but when when will you See me
When will you Hear me with your Heart
When when will you Feel me
My pain all burning right in your Heart
You who thinks he loves truly loves
Who has good intentions and other good inventions

You like people to see what you do, see who you are
You who made it in heaven, oh what about the earth
You, king, slave of your mind who claims he knows
Who thinks about life oh but you don't know 'bout Pain
't's always the same, you're just not here
Oh you uncrowned prince you have no time
No space you must convince
You must create for heaven's sake

When when will you See me
When will you Hear me with your Heart
When when will you Feel me, completely
When will you heat me with your Heart
Oh you when will you leave me
Where do you go when you leave me alone
You when will you reach me
Don't need your preaching, nor your promise
I need your Heart
No words, they hurt in my body, in my heart
That is locked, cannot breathe, cannot love

When when will you leave me
Where do you go when you leave me alone
When when will you reach me

Justin Heart – You who made it in heaven

Don't need your preaching, not your promise
Just give your Heart
Just who you are

Think you're great, truth will wait
You who made it in heaven, who forgot the earth